New at Rosedon

Rosedon has just completed major upgrades in our main house, specifically in our dining room. As you may know the walls are graciously embellished with detailed wood work and antique wall murals dating back to the origin of the house. To compliment them we designed the room to enhance these features, with paint & complimentary fabrics. The purpose of the upgrade was to offer our guests more dining seating in the morning, especially in poor weather.

In addition to the diningroom we upgraded the outdoor porch area complete with new seating & mirrors to reflect the morning light. We also upgraded the lighting in the main hall, bar & reservations room. Not only out of necessity, but we think the new chandeliers & sconces will add to the elegance of the interior.

In our Garden

HELICONIA ROSTRATA -(Lobster Claw)
ORIGIN : Peru, Ecuador, SIZE : 7' on average

Of all the Heliconias around you will probably be most familiar with this one. Heliconia rostrata is one of the most recognized and widely grown species, but that doesn't take away from the fact that it is still considered one of the most beautiful. The inflorescence it produces is one of the most colorful you will ever encounter. The mature plant normally starts to flower in the summer. The flowers last a long time and make an excellent cut flower. It is an easy grower in tropical areas but some room is required because the stalks can reach 7 feet in height. Bright shade is ideal with good moisture in the air and in the soil, but no soggy soils. Heliconias are also heavy feeders. Sheltered areas are better because strong winds can shred the leaves pretty bad. It can withstand temperatures in the high 20's (with some protection) for a while but it grows better if kept above 50° most of the time. Those of you in not so tropical climate need not be envious, with some work they can be grown in large pots.
